In my work with my own and client animals over the past twenty years or so, I have found certain life challenges to be so common that I have developed recipes for custom blends of flower essences to help. In most cases, I recommend both the person and animal take the same remedy due to the close intertwining of human and animal spirit.

When assisting animals overcome life challenges, approaching them with compassion and respect is always appropriate. Allowing your animals to actively participate in their own healing process fosters a relationship based on trust and sets the stage for both of you to "see" with a new perspective.

to help you and your animal companion

In order to determine which flower essences would be the most helpful, a 10 minute Healing Consultation should be scheduled. If you have already scheduled an appointment for a behavioral, educational, intuitive or healing consultation, I will be able to use information from that session to make your custom blend.

Custom Remedy with 10 minute Phone Consultation $45 each

If you have not had a recent consultation with Kathy, you should purchase this option. You will receive a link to an online form to be submitted before the consultation, and Kathy will contact you to schedule the consultation.

Additional bottles of the same Custom Remedy $20 each Order a 2nd bottle now to save on the remedy and shipping.

Flower Essence Remedies come in a 1 oz dark glass bottle with your choice of a glass dropper cap or spray mist cap.

One bottle will normally last about 4 weeks if one person or animal is using 3-4 times per day.

*Your order will be shipped via USPS Priority Mail, and a s/h fee will be added to your order. Please choose your Remedy, and the appropriate bottles for shipping.
